Additives

Our "Master List" of additives has been reviewed and additives that are considered sensitive have been identified. We should consider the following points:

1). The master list of additives is itself sensitive.

2). Additives were identified as sensitive based on internal developments or brand sensitive additives.

3). Philip Morris Tobacco Processing Ingredients were identified as sensitive based on previous discussions.

A second list has been prepared and could be described as a listing using general descriptive words.

If we can be of additional assistance, please call.
